STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK JOURNAL, MARCH 8, 1899.

Money Rates Fall to 21-2 Per Cent, and "Shorts" Cover Some of Their Contracts.

Wall Street, March 7. The stock market showed a decided improvement to-day. The volume of trading was not large and extreme duiness prevalled during the greater portion of the day, but nevertheless the tone was firmer and the traders were more inclined to cover In a handsome house off Mount Morris their shorts than put out new contracts.
